

A black and white line drawing of a cowboy wearing a wide-brimmed hat, a long-sleeved shirt, and chaps with a large belt buckle. He is riding a garden hose that is coiled around a wooden fence. The hose is being held in his hands, and he is waving with his right hand. The hose is connected to a nozzle that is spraying water. The scene is set in a corral with a wooden fence and mountains in the background. The entire illustration is framed by a barbed wire border.

HEY LITTLE BUCKAROO!

Let's wrangle up some water!

CAN YOU BELIEVE IT?

Your lawn only needs to be watered twice a week. So keep that garden hose under control and save 1,500 gallons a month!

The logo for the Thornton Water Drive. It features a stylized water drop icon above the text "WATER DRIVE" in a sans-serif font. Below that is the word "THORNTON" in a large, bold, outlined font. At the bottom of the logo is the tagline "a little goes a long way" in a smaller font.

WATER DRIVE
THORNTON
a little goes a long way

www.ThorntonWater.com

The logo for the City of Thornton. It features a stylized graphic of three curved lines representing water or a landscape, followed by the text "City of Thornton" in a serif font.

City of Thornton